THE HONGKONG FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.
CAPITAL 2,000,000 DOLLARS,
in 2,000 Shares of 1,000 Dollars each.
Consulting Committee:—
GEORGE F. HEARD, Esq.
WM. KAYE, Esq.
R. ROWETT, Esq.
S. D. SASSON, Esq.
E. BRUCE, Esq.
General Managers, Messrs JARDINE,
MATHESON & Co.
Head Office, No. 39, Queen's Road.

THE HONGKONG FIRE INSURANCE COMpany, which acquired by effluxion of time in a few months, having proved a highly successful undertaking, it has been determined by a large number of its shareholders to form a permanent Company, under the same management and with increased Capital.

It is proposed to register the Company
under the Limited Liability Ordinance, and the amount of the Capital having been fixed at Two Millions of Dollars, it is considered that Insurers will be amply secured thereby, while at the same time each shareholder will know the extent of his individual liability. The capital proposed to be called up amounts to a large sum, and provision will be made for the creation of an ample Reserve Fund, which will, it is expected, in a very short time accumulate to an amount practically to give the fullest security both to Insurers and Insured, irrespective of the unpaid Capital.

It is intended to anticipate the termination of the Old Company, by dissolving it from and after the 31st December next, and measures are being taken for that purpose.
In anticipating a successful career for the New Company, it is only necessary to present to the public the results of the Old Company since its establishment in May 1866, as exhibited by the following figures:—

Total premiums collected from the 1st May 1866 to the present time, a period
of one year and five months, amount to.....$304,727.72
The losses which have been paid within the same period
have amounted to.....$190,081.22
and include the large sum of $68,270 lost by the Fire
at Hongkong in Nov. 1867.
The amount now at the Credit
of the Working Account,
after paying all Expenses
and Re-insurances to date,
exceeds.....$160,000.00

These figures fully warrant the most sanguine expectations of success, and it is but reasonable to expect that, strengthened with larger Capital, the present undertaking cannot fail to prove at least as successful as the former one. The Old Company, when it entered the field, had to create a business for itself, but the New one, in taking over the outstanding risks and connections of the Old Company, will at once receive a very large amount of premium,
and enter on a profitable and organized business. Moreover, there is no doubt that the risk of Fire Hongkong has been greatly diminished by the Building Regulations now in force, and by the establishment of a Fire Brigade.

The following are the main features of the New Company:—
1. A first Call of $100, to be paid upon each share on allotment, and a further Call of $100 to be paid in Six Months;
all further Calls to be determined upon
at General Meetings of the shareholders.
2. Interest at 12 per cent per annum to be paid on the first instalment allowed on the paid up Capital, such interest to be payable half-yearly, on 30th June, and 30th December. The profits after deducting the said interest to be applied thus:—20 per cent, pro rata, amongst such of the shareholders as shall have contributed or influenced business to the Company, and the remainder in forming a Reserve Fund
of $250,000.
3. When such Reserve Fund shall have been accumulated, the payment of Interest to cease, and the profits to be applied thus:—20 per cent to be distributed as already mentioned amongst the shareholders who shall have contributed business to the Company; 30 per cent, to the augmentation of the Reserve Fund until it shall reach $1,000,000, at which figure it is to be permanently maintained; and the remaining 50 per cent to be distributed by way of dividend amongst the shareholders generally.
4. No shareholder to hold more than 250
shares.
5. The Company to be managed by General
Managers, with the assistance of a Consulting Committee.
6. The Funds of the Company to be deposited in Banks or in Government Securities approved of by the Committee.
The Deed of Association may be inspected
at the Office of the General Managers, or at the Office of M. HENRY C. OATWELL, the Solicitor of the Company.

THE CHINA MAIL.
HONGKONG, SATURDAY, DEC. 19, 1868.

THE DRESS NOTIFICATION.
We have already noted the opposition
with which the North China journals have received the notification issued by Sir Rutherford Alcock respecting the dress of Chinese-descended British subjects, and we now find a paragraph expressing similar sentiments in the Straits Times. Our Singapore contemporary has certainly a much stronger justification for expressing an adverse opinion than have residents at the ports inasmuch as while the carrying out of the notification
may be attended with advantage to British interests in China, it may possibly affect the interests of the Chinese community at Singapore in an opposite way.
Says our contemporary:—
The last Government Gazette contains a circular from the British Minister in Peking notifying that all Chinese who claim to be British subjects must, when they return to their native land, discard their native
costume or else they cannot claim the rights of British subjects. The press in China generally condemn this document of Sir Rutherford Alcock's. There is no reason given for its origin, and in the absence of any, we cannot but characterise it as a dangerous concession to the Chinese Government. It very properly affects these Settlements. The prosperity of the Colony depends in the main upon the Chinese portion of the community. They are nearly all born, or naturalised, British subjects.
They nearly all wish to return to China either for a time to recruit their health, or to permanently settle down. Are they not entitled to the just right of protection as British subjects from Mandarin avarice, without their national customs, habits of feeling being putrid—without their being obliged to become pariahs in their native land by wearing a foreign costume?

We can readily understand that at a settlement where, until very lately, one of the two local journals was owned and published by a Chinese resident, considerable indignation is felt at Sir R.
Alcock's action. But our Straits friends
having learned to regard the Chinese residents—who mostly speak good English and are men of fair education—as British subjects in the more extended sense of the term, are evidently quite unaware of the conditions under which British subjects reside in China. Their privileges are enjoyed on the express understanding that they are not Chinese. If a man that they are not Chinese, while for a similar reason they labour under certain disadvantages the removal of some of which has been the subject of much recent discussion and advocacy. But the Chinaman who comes to reside in China claims all the advantages of being a Chinese plus the advantages of being a British subject. If he is subject to "Mandarin squeezes" he is also exempt from the business and social "squeezes" under which European transactions are carried in. But to put a case more strongly. If a naturalized American returns to Great Britain as the land of his birth, he is still at all intents and purposes a British subject. In like manner a Chinese who returns to China is by existing law a subject of that Empire and no arrangement has ever been made annulling that law. But we give him the chance, if he so wills, of assuming our nationality. After all the arguments adduced pro and con the matter amounts to this—we are here in contact, under exceptional circumstances, with an exceptional people, and public policy and private interests require that exceptional rules should be made for our safety until the country is opened up, just as is every European state. Individuals may suffer, but it is at the call of necessity, and this we take it will be the view entertained by H. M. Government.

We have received the Report of the Berlin Foundling Institution at Hongkong for 1867-8, and have much pleasure in drawing attention to an institution so thoroughly deserving of support. The statistical account shows that since its foundation in 1854, 138 children have been received at the institution, of whom 78 have died—a percentage not very remarkable when the class of inmates is considered. Sixty are now provided for, some of these having been picked up by missionaries on the main land. The ages vary from a few months to 22 years, and we are glad to see that the Committee recognise the importance of marrying those eligible to native youths of their own position and so avoiding the dangers which have so often proved fatal to the well-meant but too zealous efforts of those who over-educate native girls. Household duties and the plain education afforded by our parish and Sunday schools at home to the class from whence our domestic servants are taken, are the staple subjects to which attention is devoted, a few who show some talent in that direction being taught music and singing. The leading German houses have afforded much support and well known medical attendance. To any desirous of contributing to a most benevolent undertaking we can safely recommend the institution under the care of the Rev. Mr. Klitzke.

The following sentence occurs in the opening of a letter on the coolie trade, in the North China Daily News of Dec. 11—

It is in the highest degree satisfactory to find that the persistent denunciation, by the English Press in China, of the Macao coolie trade, has at length had its effect.

There is a coolie impudience about this that is really refreshing. The China Mail is the only journal that has maintained the "persistent denunciation," the effect of which is so gratifying to our northern friend; it is the Harby who slew the coolie Meteora. The Daily News comes in, Peking like, to claim a share in the credit of victory, though like the rest of our Shanghai contemporaries—it shunned the fight. Not to be worsted, however, stands in some rank of praise, and in justice to the Daily News, we acknowledge that it has (though tardily) protested against the inordinate persecution to which the China Mail is at present subjected. The other journals at the model settlement do not appear to have an equally vivid perception of what is involved in these libel actions, in relation to the freedom of the English press in China. Nor do we care to dilate on their indifference, for 'tis not of the slightest consequence, thank you! but we cannot remain quite silent when an influential paper claims for the whole of the English journals in China credit for performance of duty which has been discharged mainly by one.

The Times (San Francisco) of October 14, contains the following statement, corroborative of the tale told by the coolies in the mysterious ship which found its way to Hakodadi. Their report has already appeared. It is strange that the last Japan papers contain no information as to what is being done with them. What they did, if correctly described, is equivalent to piracy and murder. Of course they might themselves have been stolen, or marked with a hot iron even as cattle are branded, and have suffered other indignities, so that their notions of social obligation had become weakened. But of course this affords no excuse for them in the eye of the law, and we should like to know what the law is doing with them. It is often very eccentric in its operation. Here follows the paragraph above referred to—

MURDER OF COOLIES.—The Hawaiian bark Mamake, which arrived at this port yesterday, spoke the white bark Nile Aug. 29th. Captain Allen, of the latter vessel, reports the following particulars of a mutiny and seizure of a vessel by coolies: He says he saw a bark which left Callao with sixty coolies on board and $20,000 in treasure, destined to some plantation, place unknown, the owner of which was on board. On the first day out, the coolies rose and killed all the sailors and others, except the steward and his servant, and took possession of the ship. They divided the money among themselves, and ordered the plantation owner to steer the vessel to China. As he was unskilled in navigation, the ship drifted about, without any one knowing where they were. Finally they came to the northeast arm or gulf of the Oohotok sea, where they landed. Here the owner and his servant, effected their escape, and succeeded in getting on board a whaling vessel. The last that was seen of the bark, the coolies were weighing anchor, and had bent a set of new sails, the old ones having been blown away. The owner saved a part of his papers and also some of the ship's papers.

LOCAL.

We have already acknowledged the receipt of the first four issues of the Overland Monthly, and this evening give an extract from the 2nd number. For true pathos and that subtle essence which constitutes the charm of really fine writing, however unpretentious, "The Luck of Roaring Camp" may safely challenge comparison with most of its class. We prefer to insert our extracts in this manner than subject them to the mutilation necessary for including them in a "review" notice.

An international boat race, between English and Scotch crews, will be rowed on Monday afternoon. The course will be from Burrows' wharf to Smith's Archer's; distance, about half a mile. The names of the competitors are—Scotch: Sim (stroke), Morrison, J. M'Leod, A. M'Leod, Burnet (cox), English: West (stroke), Turner, Weeks, Buckle, Botkinley (cox).

The Baud Analeurs of the 73rd Regiment Kemithworth and My Precious Baby once more last night, when the large audience proved even more enthusiastic and the performance even more meritorious than before. Mr. Whitham's Bobbie is always fresh, however often it might be given. An improvement might be suggested to the way of a mock, instead of a live, baby. We understand that the "matrons" will give one or two performances by way of farewell next week. It would not be at all out of place were these clever amateurs to finish up with a farewell evening at the Club Lusitano; they are one of the best companies going, and would take well.

An interesting excursion is announced to take place in January. Places of worship have been erected over the grave of St. Francis Xavier in San-chuen. The Bishop of Canton, Monsr. Guilmin, is at present visiting the site and inspecting the building. On his return, which is shortly expected, arrangements will be made for the consecration, due notice of the date of which will be given, and in the meantime preparations will be made for the conveyance of persons who wish to witness the ceremonies. We refer our readers to the advertisement in another column.

H. M.'s steam Troop-ship Himalayas arrived at Singapore on the morning of the 4th instant, with the 79th Regiment on board for Hongkong, and a portion of the 73rd Regiment, viz., Captain Gibaut, Lieut. Swiney, and 178 rank and file, for that place. Next morning the 73rd men, escorted by their comrades of the 76th with their band, marched from Tanjong Pagar Dock, at which the Himalayas is lying up, to the new barracks in Tanjong, and took possession of the quarters which have been ready for them now for some years. We (Straits Times) learn that the Head-quarters wing of the 73rd is coming to Singapore from Hongkong, and that the detachment by the Himalayas, being relief, will await its arrival.

H. M. steamer Basilek, Captain Howett, of London, sailed for England from Singapore on the 30th ultimo. Admiral Keppel, after having visited Bangkok, Saigon, and Sarawak, has gone on to Penang, in H. M. S. Salamis.

In Bangkok, on the 11th ult., the young king, H. M. Pradit Samdech Pra Paramindr Maha Chulalongkorn Pa'n Klou Chonyu-na, was crowned in state in the presence of all the Princes and Grandees of his kingdom, of Foreign consuls, and the principal European residents and Naval Officers in port.—Straits Times.

With reference to a paragraph which appeared in Saturday's issue, stating that news had been received of the total loss in a typhoon of the French steamer La Marge, we have to make two corrections:—first, that the proper name of the steamer is La Monge;—second, that there is only a mere rumour of her loss and no certainty whatever. She left Saigon for China and Japan on the 1st ult., and has not been heard of since. That is all. The Saigon Advertiser of 28th ultimo, publishes a letter from M. Gaudot, Master Attendant of Saigon, in which he states, that he has taken every pains by inquiry among the Chinese and Annamite vessels who had lately arrived from the China coast, to trace the source of the rumour, but had not been able to get hold of anything authentic. The only certainty is that the Monge had not been seen or heard of.—Straits Times, Dec. 7.

TO-DAY'S POLICE.

Mr. Goodlake on the Bench.
Pran and Ismail, two seamen belonging to the steamer T. A. Gibb, were charged with having stolen a bag of gram from that vessel last night. They were each fined $10 each with the option of one month's hard labor.
John Brown, another destitute seaman found drunk, was sent to hard labor for fourteen days.
Five Chinese were remanded until Wednesday next, charged on suspicion of having stolen a quantity of native clothing from the house of Captain Grant, of the 28th Native Infantry, in Seymour Terrace.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before the Hon. the Chief Justice.)
Dec. 19, 1868.
The Criminal Sessions were resumed this morning at ten o'clock. Jurors—Messrs J. B. Smith, W. M. Morgan, J. Parsons, (Jun.), D. Illingworth, E. W. Stevens, William Kirby and G. O. F. Rodatz.

UTTERING A COUNTERFEIT BANK NOTE.
Pang-wooy and Cho-ah-choo stood charged with having attempted to utter a $100 note of the Chartered Bank of India Australia and China, at a gambling-house on the 14th November last, knowing it to be forged; and also having possession of the same. Mr. Hayllar, instructed by Mr. Gaskell, appeared for the first prisoner. The details of the case have already been fully published, and the chief interest attached to it now arose from the endeavour on the part of the Defence to elucidate the inner life of the gambling system. The facts of the offence as alleged by the prosecution, are that Pang-wooy had gone to a licensed gambling-house, where in two hours he lost at the table a sum of 52 Taels (equal to over $30), a loss which he paid up in a $100 note. This was about two or three in the morning; and Pang-wooy returned in the evening, asking that this note paid in the afternoon be exchanged for another note. This latter note was the forged one, and it was found upon the first prisoner by Inspector Daly, who was in the gambling-house at the time; and first prisoner was taken into custody. Second prisoner was arrested upon information of the first prisoner, as the man from whom the note was obtained; and the Attorney General withdrew the charge against him, and a verdict of not guilty was returned.

From the evidence of the accountant and the gambling-master, the above facts were so far corroborated. They stated that the first note could not be returned, as it had been sent to the Treasury to pay the Government Gambling Fee; but neither the master nor the accountant knew the sum paid to Government, while the first prisoner stated that the gambling was a bad business, and not very brisk. Other evidence showed that the note had been sent upstairs for a short time, and that the man who took it up had not been produced; upon which point a great deal of stress was laid by defendant's counsel.

Mr. Hayllar, in defence, submitted that there was a law in the evidence; by the non-production of the man who took the note upstairs there was a link missing; and upon this he contended that there was no evidence to go to the jury. The facts of the case were clear enough. The prisoner went to a gambling-house and deposited his credit $100, which in the course of two or three hours, were swept away; and then in the evening he went with a note and asked to have the other one changed. Now, he would address himself upon the question of guilty knowledge on prisoner's part; and it was at once apparent that this gambling, by means of which this ignorant young boy had lost the money, must be evidently a good thing when permitted, licensed and encouraged by the English Government. By the license of such houses, the Chinese were accused of being guilty of an inalienable vice, while the Police by their extreme corruption were regarded as impotent to suppress it. These houses were now ticketed with the name of the English Government, and the impression that good must come of it was no doubt made upon a mere child such as the prisoner was. Prisoner had been tempted to lose this money by a Government house, as it were; and it was a most significant fact—he would not comment upon it further—it was a significant fact that in a few hours nearly a hundred dollars were swept into the hands of a few men, and a mere child like the prisoner. It was apparent that the boy (prisoner) had lost the money of his friend, and in order to avoid suspicion he had run to get back the note which his uncle might miss. There was no strong presumptive evidence of guilty knowledge; he went to ask for the note personally, a thing which no one would have done had he known the note to have been forged; he did not attempt to escape when the note was being carefully examined, as he most probably would have done had he known the note was a bad one. But his case was that the note must have been changed by the gambling people while it was upstairs. He did not wish to speak against the Chinese gambling-masters more than their profession called for; but here they had it shown that the gambling business was in a bad way, and that very thing which he had been told of was a bad thing. He was determined to speak for himself, and he would say that the present was a favorable opportunity of doing this. The note had not been traced to prisoner's possession prior to its being brought downstairs, and the prosecution had therefore technically failed.

The Acting Attorney General said that there were two counts against the prisoner, knowing the note to be counterfeit and uttering a counterfeit note with mere possession of the note. The Lordship said that the Attorney General surely would not go upon merely possession.

The Attorney General said that it was the law of England and of this Colony. His Lordship said that it was the law, it was a factual law; but did not carry it so far as the Attorney General did. Mr. Hayllar continued to say that the explanation of possession was also given by the absence of the evidence of identity and the probable change of the note. He would leave the case, however, with the Jury who would consider all the circumstances—the age of the prisoner, the temptation, and the fact that he did not attempt to run away.

His Lordship, on summing up, put the question to the jury as a mixed question, and stated that they had to consider whether the prisoner could give a reasonable excuse for the admitted possession of the note. All the excuse, as it seemed to him, was that it had been taken upstairs, and the prosecution had not produced the person who took it up. They would dismiss from their minds all which had reference to gambling. Gambling certainly was not a profession quite so honorable as other trades in Queen's Road, still it was a trade, and was sanctioned and licensed by Government—he would say no more.

The Jury returned a verdict of not guilty; and his Lordship expressed his surprise that the man who took the note upstairs had not been produced.

Mr. Ball said that he had had no notice of the fact.
His Lordship remarked that notice had been given, as the fact was mentioned at the Magistrate's.

MURDER AT KOWLOON.

Lim Aeng was charged with having committed a burglary upon the house of a woman named Ho-ping-kew, at Kowloon, on the 17th February last; and with having wounded the said female in the said attack upon and robbery of her house.

The woman Ho-ping-kew stated that she went with a knife in her or six places, and that she became insensible. She went out on the head with a chopper, but got away, and she could not find prisoner for a long time until she saw him at the Supreme Court at the last Sessions, when he was tried and acquitted of Yancey's murder at Kowloon.

instrument (supposed, though not proved, to have been inflicted by Yancey himself.) Sergeant Abbott, P. C., who was stationed at Kowloon on the day of the robbery, deposed to having found the first witness bleeding and insensible near her own house. She had said she could identify the man who wounded her if she could see him.

His Lordship said that, if the Jury believed the woman, the case was not a difficult one.
A verdict of guilty was at once returned; and Mr. Douglas informed his Lordship that prisoner had made an attempt to escape from Gaol while on remand charged with Yancey's murder.

His Lordship then addressed prisoner: it was no thanks to him, said the Judge, that the poor woman was not killed. Sentence of the Court, ten years' hard labor, with three public floggings of thirty strokes each.

Chan Akun, a woman charged with the detention of a child, was discharged by proclamation; and the Sessions were thereupon concluded.

CORRESPONDENCE.

STREET INSTRUCTIONS.
To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL."
HONGKONG, Dec. 19th 1868.

Sir,—Not many months ago a series of charges for obstructing the footpaths and roads were brought against the numerous residents of this Colony, among which were against Messrs. Gibb, Livingston, & Co., against most prominent. Whatever inconvenience the new Regulations occasioned to the parties interested and to the public in general, the people submitted in the belief that the local government meant to improve the condition of the Town and secure the convenience of pedestrians in general. I am sorry, however, to have seen to my regret, for obstructing this Ordinance by the very government, that has put the public to such great inconvenience and expense.

Just below Messrs. Gibb, Livingston & Co., at Police Station No. 5, there was an empty space extending from the Station to the junction of the road, forming the footpath, on which four beautiful Trees stood. The place is so narrow, as to be utterly unfit for building purposes, and the footpath for obstructing which other people were prosecuted, is infringed upon. Behold, the Trees were ruthlessly cut down (and really we have none too many of those beautiful ornaments in this Town) and a solid wall built across the trottoir up to the gutter and the same formed into a cul de sac to the inconvenience of pedestrians. The very unsightliness of that building, stretching across the footpath, should alone have induced the Surveyor General to order its removal; even if a former administration had allowed such an obstruction of the Road. It is unlawful and ugly, and I would ask where in any part of H. M. Dominion, such an infringement of the law would be tolerated.—I am, Sir, yours,

JUSTICIA.

MR COOPER'S JOURNEY.

We endeavored, last week, to quote a few facts antagonistic to Mr. Consul Amherst's theory on the subject of easy travelling in China; and, had not the necessity for compressing our article intervened, we should have been tempted to array more evidence against him. It may be superfluous to re-iterate to the subject now; but one or two points rise up so strongly in condemnation against him, that we are loath to pass them over unnoticed. Foremost amongst these is the case of the Nepanese Ambassador, who was detained for months on the Tibetan frontier, exposed to the petty annoyances and pilferings of a host of official underlings; afterwards led on to Chentu, when the people of Ta-tien-loo—who were laid under contribution to support his train—had been goaded nearly to revolt by the infliction; and finally ordered to give up his presents and to return whence he came, without seeing the sovereign to whom he was accredited. He had been so robbed, too, during his detention, that he was unable to proceed on his homeward journey, till the Provincial authorities had made good his losses. Does this look like ready willingness to let foreign travellers journey where they will? Here is actually the envoy of a friendly nation stopped on the borders of China and refused admission into the country. The case is worse than that of Lord Amherst's embassy, and shows the same exclusive spirit, in a still stronger light.

We have returned to the question, however, less with a view to go on combating Mr. Morrison, than to claim interest in the further attempt which Mr. Cooper intends to make, to carry out his object of crossing between Assam and Szechuen. It will be remembered that, after having discovered the existence of a road from Batang to Suifu, and obtained the acquiescence of the Batang Tontai in his journey, he was eventually turned back by those frontier difficulties which Mr. Morrison so decides. The road lay across Tibet and Thibet is a sealed book. The Lamas, who are the dominant class in the country, object to foreign intruders; they subvert the Chinese Viceroys to enforce this principle, and as it chimes in too well with their own instincts, he readily acquiesces in their wish. The jealousy of the local traders came in, too, in this instance, to supplement that of the ruling class. There is a large trade between Batang and Teyu, a mart at the foot of the Thibetan Himalayas, distant about 125 miles from the former city, and 65 miles from Suifu; and the merchants feared the passage of a foreigner might herald interference with their trade from Assam. The local officials themselves seem, strangely enough, to have been willing to meet Mr. Cooper's wishes; they were only too glad to get rid, at any cost, of the responsibility of his presence. But they were obliged to yield to the progress, at the last moment. He now intends to leave shortly for Calcutta, taking with him Chinese and Thibetan interpreters, with the purpose of trying to cross the mountains in the direction of Suifu. He will, then, try to go from Suifu to Batang. So great interest is now felt in the matter of communication with China, across the Gurmee and Assamese frontier, that we have no doubt the Indian Government will gladly hail the aid of an experienced traveller ready to yield up the subject. It will be none the less ready, that Mr. Cooper's project does not involve a costly expedition, like that of Captain Sladen's to Yunnan. His journey is simply one of exploration; it will be time enough to send an envoy and train, when the route shall have been traversed, and its practicability for purposes of trade satisfactorily ascertained. We wish Mr. Cooper all success in his design, and are confident that his persevering energy will meet, in India, with the encouragement it deserves.—N. C. Herald, Dec. 12.

COLONIAL JUDGES AND LAWYERS.

Certain Singapore people some time ago memorialized the Colonial Office against the power given under their new charter to the Governor to suspend or remove a Judge. Of course the memorial was rejected. In the course of his reply the Duke of Buckingham said—

"I am far from undervaluing the knowledge and ability of Colonial Judges and Lawyers. But it is evident that no Lawyer can be advanced to a place on the English Bench without a professional trial longer and far more severe than that which would qualify him for a Colonial appointment; and that an English Judge performs his functions under the eye of a numerous and highly educated Bar, with the assistance and under the correction of Colleagues who are among the first Lawyers of the World, and subject to the observation of a critical and well informed press. Lastly the engrossing nature of his own duties, and the magnitude of the sphere in which he acts, render it improbable that he will so entangle himself in local, personal, or political controversies, as to impair his credit for judicial impartiality. Thus chosen and thus circumstanced there is little danger that an English Judge will neglect his duties or abuse his great powers."

"In the Colonies, I need scarcely point out, these securities for judicial propriety exist in a very mitigated form, and while with the memorialists, I hold it indispensable that no Governor should influence or attempt to influence, or if possible, have the power to influence, a decision of the Supreme Court, I do not think it for the good of the Community that a Functionary who is not, like an English Judge, immediately under the control of an enlarged public and professional opinion, nor, like the Governor, subject to the direct authority of the Crown, should be relieved from that general responsibility to the local Executive which is confessedly necessary in the case of all other public Officers."

I may add, that if he were thus relieved from responsibility by any local authority, he would occupy a position in some respects even more advantageous than that accorded to English Judges—who perform their functions under the observation of a body which is capable of removing them in case of improper behaviour—the Parliament of the United Kingdom."

GIBRALTAR V. JERSEY AND GUERNSEY.

The following letter appears in the Pall Mall Gazette—

Sir,—In saying in your leading article, that "Gibraltar is an English possession just as much as Jersey or Guernsey," you may unavailingly stir up the feelings of the free inhabitants of those islands who are accustomed to look upon England as a possession of theirs much rather than the converse. The reason is clear: their original sovereigns were the Dukes of Normandy, one of whom made himself king of England; under his successors the continental part of the duchy was subdued by the French; but the progress of the invasion was so slow, and so successfully checked in Jersey. The same people, when an English revolutionary government had presumed to despoil their sovereign, immediately acknowledged the rights of his heir as independently of us as the very Scots did; they were overpowered after an obstinate resistance by the forces of the Commonwealth, but I suppose they fully recovered their former status at the Restoration. If we proceed to search for substantial badges of Englishness in England and the independence of Jersey we shall find that the islands are, or have till very lately, been in the habit of deporting their criminals and vagrants to our shores, so that England has been a Moab or wasteland to the country she arrogantly terms one of her possessions. The case could doubtless be more strongly stated to you by a native of the Channel islands; but I make these hasty remarks in order to secure time for such an advocate.

ARRIVAL OF THE ENGLISH MAIL.

Dec. 19, 1868. British steamer, 1185, C. H. Eastley, Bombay, Galle, Penang, and Singapore, Nov. 27, Dec. 2, 8, and 11, Opium and Treasure.—P. & O. Co.

ARRIVED.—Mr. O. Bullock, Mrs. Patridge, Messrs W. Gregory, Norwan, Yaman, the Hon. Julian Pauncefote, the Hon. F. Forth, Mr. Bulbas, Mr. Campbell, Capt. and Mrs. Purchase, three Misses Purchase, Master Purchase, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Knott, Mr. F. N. May, Mr. A. J. Gower.

The Transvaal arrived this afternoon, about five o'clock. The following are the latest telegrams, dated London:—

10th Nov.—At the Lord Mayor's Banquet Mr. Revere Johnson stated that all the recent differences between England and America had been settled. Mr. Disraeli corroborated him. Mr. Disraeli asserted that causes of anxiety for the peace of Europe existed only superficially, but that England does not share the apprehensions prevalent in other countries. He also stated that Her Majesty the Queen desired Peace; and that he thought Lord Stanley, who was not animated by aggressive feeling, should step between France and Prussia. The Gazette has said. The Earl of Mayo has been appointed an extra Knight [of the Garter].

11th Nov.—Parliament was dissolved to-day. The Earl of Mayo has left England. The Marquis of Hastings is dead. News from Spain mentions that an Electoral Law has been issued. Women's Suffrage, Universal Suffrage to citizens of twenty-nine years of age, has been granted. Reinforcements have been despatched to Cuba. The Bombay Bank Commission have commenced their sittings. The French Government has determined to prosecute the papers who opened subscriptions for a monument to Deputy Bauden.

12th Nov.—The Parliamentary Writs are returnable on the 10th of December. Sir Roundell Palmer has withdrawn from Oxford. The Monitor eulogizes the King of Prussia's speech, and comments favourably on Mr. Disraeli's speech at the Guildhall, as upon Lord Stanley's idea of mediation for a convention in England.

13th Nov.—The Austrian Reichsrath has passed the Army Bill fixing the limit at 800,000 men. General Farnier is dead.

14th Nov.—At a recent sitting of the Bombay Bank Commission the old Government Directors declared the Secretary acted without authority in

THE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA AND JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN."

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

(From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.)
We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Denny, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India.

(From the "Strait Times," July 27, 1868.)
Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on China and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour.

The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, we commend it to the attention and support of our readers.

(From the "London Examiner," May 16, 1868.)
This really useful volume ("Treaty Ports of China and Japan") is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. It has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Denny; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. ***

We have thus given in outline some of the more prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghai, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns. A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives an accurate notion of the relative position of its divisions, streets, and places.

In the introductory chapter to the notices of the Treaty Ports of Japan will be found as concise history of that Empire, together with remarks on its government, geography, and limits, which will be found particularly interesting as throwing a considerable light on a part of the world so long entirely, and still comparatively, unknown to Europeans. The descriptions of Nagasaki, Yedo, Yokohama, and the other Treaty Ports of Japan, are as elaborate and entertaining as those of the Chinese ports. A copious index and a useful appendix containing many hints and much appropriate advice to travellers and others, is also included in the volume. The entire work affords a vast amount of information, pleasantly written, and we doubt not will be perused with interest by many who will never visit the Eastern seas.
